

way to stop this troubling reality. And I want to acknowledge particularly the hard work of my colleagues who worked on this bill. It is truly a collaborative effort that includes prevention, not just response. And we must, we must approve reauthorization before the expiration on September 1. It needs to be broad, and it needs to be this bill.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

(Mrs. BLACKBURN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Mr. Speaker, this week's Supreme Court decisions have been a mixed bag, and I did not like the eminent domain ruling which, in my view, is contrary to America's great tradition and respect for public property.

Why is it that Americans can be born poor and yet realize the American Dream? It is because Americans can dream and create and own and benefit from their labor.

I was glad to see the Court reinforce private property, at least when it comes to intellectual property. It is so important that our digital marketplace not become a place where anything goes and where pirates and robber barons rule the Information Highway.

As a Member of Congress from Tennessee, I have a great number of constituents, small business owners who write music, create television programming, films, radio content, people who write books and publish them and develop software. The creative community is alive and well and working hard in Tennessee.

I can tell my colleagues that illegal downloading has hurt our songwriters and our performers. And I am not talking about millionaires; I am talking about small business people. They are the backbone of the entertainment industry.

As cochairman of the Congressional Songwriters Caucus, I applaud the Grokster decision and hope that they will promote a fair and digital marketplace.

REMEMBERING INNOCENT LOST DURING SREBRENICA GENOCIDE

(Mr. CARNAHAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CARNAHAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise this morning to express my deepest sympathy for the thousands who lost their lives on this, the 10th anniversary of the Srebrenica genocide. We should remember all the innocent people who were brutally killed by honoring their lives and remembering their struggle for freedom during the 3-year conflict in Bosnia and Herzegovina.

In my district, I have the largest Bosnian population outside of Bosnia. Approximately 35,000 Bosnians reside in the St. Louis, Missouri, region. Of these, upwards of 5,000 are survivors of the Srebrenica massacre.

As a representative of my Bosnian-American friends in St. Louis, I am proud and honored to be a co-sponsor of House Resolution 199 which passed the House this week. It aptly commemorates those who died, seeks to hold accountable those responsible, and honors those who survived.

It is important for us to remember this stark chapter in history and to learn from it for the benefit of our future generations.

MUCH WORK LEFT IN AFGHANISTAN

(Mr. PITTS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, last week, the minority leader said that the war in Afghanistan is over. That is news to most people, and even more so to our men and women fighting the remnants of the Taliban in Afghanistan.

The comments were just the latest in a series of comments that show some people still do not get it. Her comments, like many others made recently by leaders of the opposition, demoralize American troops and incite our enemies. And, worse, they discount the great progress that our soldiers have made in the war on terror.

Fifty million people have received freedom and are fighting for the future of their nation in Iraq and Afghanistan. Just a few years ago, 50 million people lived in tyranny in Iraq and Afghanistan, and today they live in the dawn of freedom.

Much work is left, but writing off the efforts of our troops today, the sacrifice being made today, the Democratic leader writes off the quest for freedom and the necessity for us to support it. Why is that so hard to understand?

SOCIAL SECURITY

(Mrs. MCCARTHY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. MCCARTHY. Mr. Speaker, since 1935, Social Security has helped millions of our American families. It has helped them enjoy a secure retirement, and it has never been a day late or a dollar short.

Now, the Members of this body and the administration are pushing a plan that will cut benefits for nearly every American under 35. The administration has said in the past that Social Security is a bunch of IOUs. Now we are hearing that we have a surplus, and we are going to take that surplus and finance private accounts.

Where is the common sense in this? Social Security needs a solid source of funding, not a plan that drains trillions of dollars away from our American families that need it. We must commit to improving, not dismantling, the Social Security programs.

We can and we must do better. And let no one forget that Social Security covers people with disabilities and those women and men who have become widows and widowers.

APPRECIATION OF NATION'S VOLUNTEER HONOR GUARDS

(Mr. BOOZMAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BOOZMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to express my deep appreciation for our Nation's volunteer honor guards. As the Greatest Generation continues to age, a number of our World War II heroes are passing on. Volunteer honor guards serve as ceremonial guards, flag detail, rifle squads, and pallbearer escorts at many of these funerals.

The men of these honor guards receive no pay for their service. They purchase their own uniforms and provide their own transportation. Many of them are over age 70.

I would like to take a moment to personally thank the 23 men of the Bella Vista Honor Guard who served at my brother's funeral earlier this year. The men of the Bella Vista Honor Guard serve at more than 100 funerals in Benton and Washington counties in the Third District of Arkansas. Sometimes they serve at two funerals a day.

They are so representative of the thousands who volunteer nationwide to ensure that our veterans are given the honor and remembrance they deserve.

Mr. Speaker, I know I speak on behalf of our entire Nation when I express my gratitude for the dedicated men of America's volunteer honor guards.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH TO THE NATION

(Mr. MCGOVERN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, the President of the United States misled this Nation to justify his invasion of Iraq. There were no weapons of mass destruction; there were no ties to al Qaeda. Our men and women are now engulfed in a violent quagmire and endless war. There is no strategy, only spin. Last night, in his speech to the Nation, the President shamelessly, in my opinion, invoked the terrible tragedy of September 11 to justify our continued occupation.

Mr. Speaker, the fact that Iraq has become a haven for terrorists is due to this President's failed policy in that country. Our continued massive presence fuels the insurgency and is a magnet for foreign fighters.

It takes no courage for a President or a Congressman to stand up and say "stay the course." It is not our lives that are on the line. We owe our soldiers better.

It is time for the President to admit that this war was a mistake. It is time for us to begin an orderly withdrawal of U.S. troops from Iraq. It is time for President Bush to end his war.

PRIVATE PROPERTY PROTECTION ACT

(Mr. REHBERG asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. REHBERG. Mr. Speaker, yesterday, I introduced the Private Property Protection Act, a companion bill to legislation in the Senate designed to correct the erroneous decision made by the Supreme Court on June 23. That decision redefined the Constitution's fifth amendment. That decision, Kelo v. City of New London, was a slap in the face of homeowners, small businesses, and, frankly, Americans.

Ordinary private property owners stand to suffer from the corrupting influence this sweeping legislation will have because government officials, because government officials can aggressively use the powers of eminent domain purely for economic reasons.

Our legislation establishes two important standards that must be met before government decides to exercise its power and take and transfer private property.

The first standard is that eminent domain should only be used for public use, as guaranteed by the fifth amendment. The second is that this power should be reserved only for true public uses, not simply to provide private economic development so government can make more tax revenue.

Let us stop the abuse of eminent domain before it happens. I urge the Members of this body to support this very necessary piece of legislation.

LETTING MTBE MANUFACTURERS OFF THE HOOK

(Mrs. CAPPS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. CAPPS. Mr. Speaker, 2 months ago, the House narrowly voted down my amendment to the energy bill to hold MTBE manufacturers accountable for the groundwater contamination their product has produced. Many Members voted "no" because of some impending deal to address the issue once and for all. Now reports of the deal have leaked out. They are not pretty, and they will not address the MTBE contamination our constituents face.

This deal would provide full liability protection to the MTBE producers and establish an $8 billion trust fund to address the contamination crisis. One big problem: the cleanup of MTBE contamination will cost between $25 billion and $33 billion. It could be as high as $85 billion, dwarfing the deal's clean-up fund.

Another problem: at least half of this fund comes from taxpayers. Mr. Speaker, why should taxpayers pay to clean up MTBE contamination? Manufacturers caused this problem, and they should clean it up. It is a deal written by industry for the industry.

No surprise that water districts, cities, and counties across the country do not support this deal. They are the people who have to deal with the contamination. I urge my colleagues to oppose the liability waiver of MTBE and any deal like this.

ONE-YEAR ANNIVERSARY OF COALITION PROVISIONAL AUTHORITY'S TRANSFER OF POWER

(Ms. GRANGER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. GRANGER. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to celebrate the 1-year anniversary of the Coalition Provisional Authority's transfer of power to the Iraqi people. Over the past 2 years, we have made great progress in Iraq. There are now 170,000 trained Iraqi security forces taking on increased security burdens. There are 2,400 schools that have been rehabilitated. Major roads and bridges have been rebuilt, and water and sewer treatment plants have been repaired.

On January 30, 8½ million Iraqis defied terrorist insurgents by coming out to vote for a free and democratic Iraq. That vote resulted in the election of the Iraqi National Assembly, which convened for the time in March.

The desire for freedom is universal, and the Iraqi people are no different from us. The 8½ million Iraqis who voted for democracy on January 30, and who are working tirelessly to rid their country of terrorist extremists, are evidence enough of their desire for freedom and democracy.

We must continue to support and pray for the Iraqis in their transition to democracy, and all the brave allied troops fighting and dying for Iraq and Afghanistan in the war on terror. Our continued support is critical to their success and our future security.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH TO THE NATION

(Mr. McDERMOTT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, last night we watched a very sad event. The President of the United States came out here to try and convince the American people to support him yet again.

□ 1030

The problem is that the President did not recognize while he was standing there that nobody trusts his judgment.

Nobody trusts the vice president's judgment, the man who says we are in the last throes of the problems in Baghdad. Even Rumsfeld has come forward and said, "We are going to be there 12 years."

Now, Mr. Speaker, when the President comes and tries to sell us another 12 years and says things are going well, it just does not work. This was ill-conceived. It was ill-prepared for. It has been poorly executed by the management, not by the troops on the ground. They have done the best they could. But they are there because the President of the United States wanted them there.

This is George Bush's war. This is not a war on terrorism; this is a war of conquest by George Bush.

DOING WHAT IS REQUIRED IN IRAQ

(Mr. PENCE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PENCE. Mr. Speaker, Winston Churchill said, "Never, never, never believe any war will be smooth and easy, or that anyone who embarks on a strange voyage can measure the tides and hurricanes he will encounter."

Last night, the Commander-in-Chief addressed the Nation on the war in Iraq, laying out a clear strategy for victory built on the courage of our troops and the determination of the American people. The President reminded us that the war in Iraq is a central battlefield in the War on Terror that began the morning of September 11, and the President said, when Iraqi troops stand up, American forces will stand down.

President Bush reminded me of that great leader Winston Churchill, who also said, "It is not enough that we do our best; sometimes we have to do what is required."

Let us do what is required. Let us win the peace and democracy the good people of Iraq so richly deserve after decades of tyranny, and then, and only then, let us bring our troops home.

REPUBLICANS CANNOT HAVE IT BOTH WAYS ON SOCIAL SECURITY

(Ms. WATSON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, Washington Republicans cannot have it both ways on Social Security. Since the beginning of this year, President Bush and House Republicans have been telling everyone who will listen that Social Security is going broke. President Bush went so far as to take a field trip to West Virginia to show the American people that there really is not a trust fund where all the surplus Social Security funds are kept.

Of course, the President was being dishonest. The vault is filled with Treasury bonds that must be paid back to Social Security in the years to
